OPERATING AS USUAL

Boston Pizza Community Guidelines #GatherRound (see what we did there?) for fun, interesting and light-hearted content as we build a crew of BP fans around the world. But beware, we reserve the right to hide or delete comments and/or block users who forget to use their manners. We don't want to take such drastic measures, so please brush up on your etiquette before posting on our page! What are you bringing to the table? Good chats We do not condone any racist, sexist, abusive, profane and/or explicit language anywhere on our page. Boston Pizza complies with Facebook's Terms of Use and Code of Conduct and all postings are subject to the same rules. Good peeps We do not condone anything that breaks the law or promotes violence. This includes, but is not limited to, posting information that is known to be false, fraudulent, deceptive, inaccurate or misleading. It is the user's responsibility to understand and abide by the law. Good eats Who doesn't love good food? Please remember why we're here and limit conversation to that which is relevant to the BP community and Boston Pizza services. We want to hear about: Your most recent visit to Boston Pizza – did you love the waiter, were the Cactus Cuts on point, did you order your weight in food and get through the entire feast? We want to hear about it! Questions/comments about our services, menu items, store locations, in store promotions – sharing the love for our Spicy Perogy pizza is always welcome! Local events – tell us what's happening near your local Boston Pizza. Please do not: Publish any advertisements, third-party solicitations or spam Note: Any postings we suspect may be spam or postings including solicitation may be removed from the page. These rules and regulations apply to BP affiliated channels including Twitter and Instagram. Okay, now that we got that out of the way... let's have some fun!
